Suit For Commissions.
Neal, Featherstone & Co. have brought suit in the circuit court against S. H. Gish and wife on a claim for commissions on the sale of the Gish property of sixty acres in the southeastern part of the city to the Fairmont Land Company for $50,000. The amount sued for is $5,000. The decree of the appellate court, reversing the decision of the Hastings Court and affirming the right of S. H. Gish and wife to sell this property and remanding the case to the lower court for the execution of the contract of sale, was entered in the office of the clerk of the court on May 4. This is one of the most important cases ever tried in the courts of Roanoke city.

Colonel G. W. Hansbrough, of Salem, and R. G. H. Keane, of Lynchburg, are attorneys for Gish and wife and Moomaw & Woods for the Fairmont Land Company.

A Growing Lodge.
The Roanoke Lodge of the A. O. of U. W. held a meeting last night in the hall of the Knights of Pythias and initiated two new members into the mysteries of the order. The lodge, although new, is in fairly good financial standing and has bright prospects. Nine new members will be initiated at the next meeting.

Revival Meetings in the West End.
A series of revival meetings is being held in the Methodist Church at the West End by Rev. G. T. D. Collins, of St. James; the pastor, Rev. L. B. Atkins; Rev. H. L. Byrd, of East Roanoke, and Rev. W. F. Hamner, of Greene Memorial. There have been several conversions and a large attendance.

Want Day Labor.
A petition is being circulated which is also being signed by a large number of citizens asking the supervising architect of the Treasury Department to have the public building in this city erected by day labor instead of by contract. This it is claimed will keep the bulk of the appropriation in the city.

The Body of a Male Mulatto Child Discovered.

The Autopsy Shows That the Child Was Alive at the Time of Birth and Died Shortly After Either From a Blow at the Base of the Brain or Mismanagement—Searching for Clues—A Few Discovered.

The body of a mulatto male child was found yesterday evening between 5 and 6 o'clock in the rock quarry on Kimball avenue, near the gas house plant, by John William Saunders and another colored boy, each about ten or twelve years old. The body was wrapped up in a bundle and Saunders claims that he believed he had found a package of goods. He carried it from near the street, where it was partially covered up in dirt, to an adjacent hillside, when he opened the bundle and found the body of the child.

The boys told several persons at once and the affair was reported to the police. Chief Terry, Acting Coroner W. S. Pole and one or two officers went to the spot, but finding the body had already been removed from the place where it was first found the coroner ordered it taken to the undertaking establishment of G. W. Sieler on Commonwealth avenue. The body was wrapped in a child's dress, around which was rolled a copy of the Richmond Dispatch of the date of April 12, on the margin of which was a tag reading: "J. W. Shields, Jr., 4 June, '93." This was then rolled up in the skirt of a diagonal worsted coat and tied with a piece of twine.

Coroner Pole impounded a jury, consisting of J. A. Plumey, foreman; J. Payne Thompson, W. R. Cross, A. J. Loughery, J. R. Bower and J. E. Hough, which convened at Sieler's. Dr. Moor-mann made an autopsy and testified that the body was that of a male mulatto child, not quite fully developed, born alive and dying shortly after its birth either from blows at the base of the brain, indicated by bruises, or from failure to tie the umbilical cord.

John William Saunders was sworn. He quickly convinced the jury that he was an able bodied, all around, ornamental liar, as his story was full of strange and unaccountable inconsistencies of conduct. He claimed to have been hunting in the quarry for "dabs" or marbles, and to have found some, discovering the bundle by accident. He was given a cooling spell at the jail to develop his memory over night.

An investigation by the police shows that the copy of the Dispatch (dated April 12) had probably been brought into that section by Mrs. John Grimes, a charwoman employed in the Terry building. Her husband acknowledged that she had brought papers home occasionally some weeks ago, but she denied it. There is a general denial of knowledge as to whose was the child. An old but clear headed colored midwife, Aunt Clarissa Tarrance, was the one to whom Saunders first told of his discovery. She alarmed the neighborhood. She gave the jury some valuable pointers for the determination of the existence of colored blood in a newly born infant, but nothing else. She gave some of the colored and white denizens of unsavory localities in that neighborhood a general going over for all around cussedness.

Inquiry revealed several cases of recent child birth in the vicinity of the quarry, and the police will investigate and report to the coroner's jury, which will reconvene this morning at 10 o'clock.

The TIMES reporter is thoroughly convinced after plowing around with the police through the slums, alleys and bypaths of Diamond Hill, Possum Trot, Peach and Honey, Grass Slide, Red Row, Hell Hollow, Buzzard's Roost, Bloodfield, Swampoodle and other detectable quarters, that the police ought to patrol it in squads instead of pairs. The sooner the electric lights are on the better it will be for the peace of the community.

Funeral of Mrs. Mary Acree.
In speaking of the burial of Mrs. Mary S. Acree, the mother of Rev. R. R. Acree, of the Calvary Baptist Church, the Danville Star says: The remains of Mrs. Mary S. Acree, of this city, which were carried to Brimington, King and Queen county, were interred at that place on yesterday. This ends the last sad rites over a good woman, a consistent Christian, and a conscientious mother. The body left this place under the care of her sons, Messrs. E. F. and James Acree, of this city, and Rev. Roland R. Acree, of Roanoke, and Lucian Acree, of Jonesville, N. C., with Mrs. Waddill, her only daughter.

Norfolk and Western Notes.
A. C. Hippey, general superintendent of the Western division of the Norfolk and Western railroad, is out on the Ohio extension making arrangements for placing in sidings and selecting places for new stations.

Vice President and General Manager Jos. H. Sands, of the Norfolk and Western, arrived in the city at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon on a special train from Columbus, Ohio, where he had been on tour of inspection over the Ohio extension.

Executive Committee Meeting.
The Democratic executive committee of this city held a meeting last night in the office of Payne, Shelor & Co. and indorsed and approved for payment all the bills that were incurred in the recent primary election. The committee is still in good financial shape and has money remaining in the treasury. The committee will soon again meet to formulate plans to carry out the campaign for the candidates nominated at the primary.

THE NEW BASEBALL GROUNDS.

The Work of Enclosing Them Will Be Finished To-day.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of governors of the Roanoke Athletic Club, which was held at the Gymnasium last night, the committee on baseball and athletic grounds reported that the work of enclosing the grounds, which are situated on the west side of South Jefferson street, near the river, would be completed to day, and that arrangements had been made to have the grounds graded, rolled and put in first class condition at once.

A committee, consisting of M. W. Turner, chairman and manager, G. T. Mynah and J. W. Hancock was appointed to organize the baseball team, and have the management of it during this season. All persons interested in baseball, whether members of the Roanoke Athletic Club or not, are requested to meet the committee at the gymnasium Friday evening, May 12, at 8 o'clock. As there is good material in this city, there is no reason why Roanoke should not have one of the best teams in the South, and the lovers of the national game may expect an interesting series of games in the near future.

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN.

Policeman Gee Ralids a Gang of Colored Crap Shooters.

About 9 o'clock last night the eagle eye of Policeman Gee, who was on the Railroad avenue beat, detected that something crooked was going on in the vacant room formerly occupied by G. M. Berlin, and he immediately proceeded to investigate. He discovered thirteen negroes of all ages and conditions engaged in shooting craps for keeps.

Gee broke in upon the solemnity and tranquility of the scene by firing two shots from his gun, which caused the mob to scatter on the wings of the wind, but not before Gee captured Will Reynolds and Claude Moore, son of the illustrious St. Moore, and lodged them in the Roanoke bastille. Jim Crook was in the combination, but he outran the fleet-footed Gee. The officers know most of the petty offenders and will bring them to justice. The two youths who were captured in their lair last night will be tried in the police court this morning.

Hawkins and Boehm Renominated.

The Republican mass meeting held last night in Sheridan Hall was largely attended, and passed off harmoniously. The record in council of the present incumbents were indorsed, and a ballot taken to nominate candidates for council to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the term of office of two members was taken, which resulted in the renomination of the present members, J. P. Hawkins and J. E. Boehm. It is understood that a citizens' ticket will be presented also.

Scholz-Werner.

A very pretty wedding occurred last night at the residence of Louis Scholz. The contracting parties were Henry Scholz and Miss Louisa Werner. A considerable number of friends were present and the evening was pleasantly spent. The bride, Miss Werner, came from her home in Germany a few weeks ago and was met in Baltimore by Mr. Scholz, who accompanied her to this city.

Fatal Accident to a Young Man.

STANTON, Va., May 10.—Edwin Casbie Fulcher, aged twenty-one years, son of Capt. Edwin A. Fulcher, of this county, was the victim of a terrible accident this afternoon. The young man, who on Friday was to begin service as an express messenger, was in the express car of a west-bound Chesapeake and Ohio train.

As the train passed Snyder's station, at which it was not to stop, young Fulcher attempted to jump off, as his home was a short distance off. The train was running fast, and as the young man jumped to the platform he fell on the track. Three cars passed over him, horribly mangle the body and causing instantaneous death. One of the sad features of the case is that the unfortunate young man was engaged to be married to a lovely young lady, a pupil of one of the female seminaries in the city. It is said that Fulcher had an accident policy for $3,000 on his life.

Reception of Secretary Herbert.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The rooms of the Southern Society on West Twenty-fifth street were handsomely decorated with flags this evening in honor of Secretary Herbert, of the navy, to whom a reception was tendered by the members of the society. The reception began at 4 o'clock and lasted for three hours. Among the guests were Rear Admirals Gherardi, Walker and Benham, and Russian, French, Italian, Brazilian admirals and commanders and chief officers of all the naval vessels in port, American and foreign; all foreign consuls in New York. Gen. Schofield, Gen. O. O. Howard, Gen. Jno. Newton, Gen. Dan Sickles and hundreds of others prominent in various walks of life. Gen. Roger A. Fryer received the guests.

A South Carolina Lynching.

COLUMBUS, S. C., May 10.—A special to the Register says: Yesterday afternoon at Chestnut Ridge, Laurens county, a young negro assaulted the daughter of Capt. James Wham, white, on her way from school. Being met with desperate resistance the negro fled. He was captured to day, identified by the girl and hanged in the presence of several hundred citizens.

A Store Robbed and Burned.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., May 10.—Mr. J. Kellum, of Morrison, near Newport News, lost his store and contents by fire last night. His safe had been broken open and $500 in cash stolen. Loss, over insurance, $7,500. It is supposed the burglars, after blowing open the safe, set fire to the house to cover up their tracks.

THE GRAND JURY ADJOURNS.

It Finds Three Indictments for Illegal Liquor Selling.

Nearly One Hundred Witnesses Examined—Rev. W. F. Hamner's Charge Proven True in One Instance—The Police Themselves Bring in Two Individual Charges Which the Grand Jury Passes Upon.

The special grand jury summoned to investigate the charges made from the pulpit of Greene Memorial Church last Sunday night in regard to the violation of the Sunday liquor and other laws in this city, which has been in session for two days, has completed the examination of the one hundred witnesses summoned and have returned three indictments for selling liquor on Sunday viz. the following parties: C. G. Smith, Ponce de Leon Hotel; J. E. Kidd and Mike Foley. The jury will meet at 10 o'clock this morning to sign the bills of indictment and to be formally discharged.

Directly after the jury had reported the indictments made yesterday evening a TIMES reporter met Rev. W. F. Hamner, who said: "I regard this as a great victory, that these saloons which have sold liquor on the Sabbath have been indicted, and in regard to the charges against the police force the grand jury is not the proper tribunal before which to try them. I have the list of witnesses and at the proper time will lay the matter before Mayor Trout. There can be no doubt that the charges can be sustained if the men who informed me do not back down entirely."

Mayor Trout was seen by the reporter, and he is still anxious that the whole affair be sifted to the bottom. Personally, he is of the opinion that the police force of Roanoke is above the average, and that there have been no violations of the temperance regulations except those that have been dealt with heretofore.

Captain Foard, one of the jurors, was called on by a reporter, and asked the result of the investigation. Captain Foard said: "The charges concerning a certain city official obtaining liquor on Sunday could have been dealt with by the jury if there had been any evidence, but we did not find any. So far as the investigation of the charges of intemperance in the police force is concerned, the grand jury has no jurisdiction over that matter, yet, in consideration of the popular demand, we did make a full and complete investigation and found no evidence whatever of intemperance among the police officers that had not heretofore been acted on by the proper authorities."

"The investigation was exhaustive and the allegations of intemperance against the police force could not be substantiated. The whole trend of the investigation shows that the morals of the city have greatly improved within the last twelve months. Another point brought out by this investigation is the fact that where evil doing and immorality exists in the city it is more often the fault of the statute law than of the administration of the same."

Capt. Foard was asked: "From the evidence that came before the jury, who was the certain city official referred to in the charges?"

He replied: "There was not enough evidence produced for me to answer that question."

Of the three indictments found by the grand jury, the first was one of a class universally recognized as most difficult of police detection and until proven guilty entitled to the benefit of the doubt. The second was discovered and reported by the police and on the strength of the police report the license was revoked. The third was also a police discovery and the license will undoubtedly be taken away.

Entertaining the Infants.

HAVANA, May 10.—The Infanta Eulalia has apparently greatly enjoyed this the second day of her visit here. She declares that the situation and aspect of Havana are charming, and expresses regret that her sojourn here will last only six days.

Early this morning the band of the German warship Gneisenau played before the palace several selections, including the Spanish "Royal March." Later in the day the Duke of Tamames, as the representative of the Infanta and her husband, paid a visit aboard the Gneisenau.

Death of Lord Paulet.

LONDON, May 10.—Lord William Paulet is dead. He was the fourth son of the fourteenth Marquis of Winchester and was born July 7, 1804. He was a field marshal in the British army.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL DAY.

Fittingly Observed at Richmond and Other Points.

RICHMOND, Va., May 10.—The annual exercises at Oakwood cemetery, where 18,000 Confederate soldiers are buried, took place to day. There were several thousand people present. The exercises were participated in by the ladies of the Hollywood, Oakwood and Hebrew memorial associations. A battalion was formed from the First Regiment of Infantry, Richmond Howitzers, several companies of cavalry, and Lee and Pickett camps of Confederate Veterans from the Soldiers' Home. A carload of flowers from Florida was used decorating the graves. Gen. Fitz Lee delivered a brief address, while Col. Tazewell Ellett was the orator of the occasion.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 10.—Confederate memorial day was celebrated here to day. An address was delivered by Rev. Jno. Kershaw in the presence of a large concourse, and the graves of five hundred Confederate soldiers, interred at Magnolia Cemetery, were decorated by the girls of the Confederate Home.

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 10.—The services usually attendant on Confederate memorial day were appropriately observed here to day. Business was entirely suspended during the afternoon. A military and civic procession formed at Oakdale Cemetery and proceeded to the Confederate monument, where an address was delivered by Capt. R. B. Davis in the presence of a large concourse.

The British Squadron Departs.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The British squadron weighed anchor at 11:45, and with the Blake in the lead, steamed down between two lines of war ships in the Hudson and proceeded to sea. Crowds of people gathered on the shore to see the popular Englishman off. Before sailing Sir John O. Hopkins, admiral of the British fleet, sent a letter to Mayor Gilroy expressing appreciation for the courtesy and hospitality which has been accorded the British during their stay here. When the Blake passed Castle William at one o'clock she exchanged salutes with the fort.

Discussing the Kaiser's Speech.

BERLIN, May 10.—The Vossische Zeitung says that the address made by the Kaiser to the officers of the guard in Tempelhof field is tantamount to a personal interference by the Kaiser with the coming elections to the Reichstag. The reply cannot be given to-day. The people will furnish the reply on the 15th of June. A few other journals also comment on the speech, but treat it as expressing the personal opinion of the Kaiser and not as an official declaration of the opinion of the government.

METHOD OF THE HOUSTON CURE

How the Liquor Habit is Overcome by Treatment,

Which Consists in Subcutaneous Injections and the Administration of Tonics. A Painless Treatment—Who are Conducting the Enterprise—Indorsed by the W. C. T. U.

In the series of articles in THE TIMES about the Houston Narcotic Cure, which is situated in the Moomaw building on Campbell street, and of which J. O. Hobbs is manager, the last article was brought up to the investigation by the manager, of the reliability and efficiency of the treatment.

The treatment consists in giving subcutaneous injections, and the internal administration of tonics for the relief of alcohol or opium habits. The patient is first subjected to a careful examination, and any irregularities of liver, stomach or bowels are corrected; the treatment proper for the cure of the habit is thus commenced. Four injections are given daily, and the patient is furnished with a bottle of the tonic, which he takes at regular intervals. Dr. Houston claims that the average time required to perfect a cure is three weeks from the time the patient places him or herself under treatment, and that if the directions are followed the cure is absolutely certain. The treatment is painless and there are no unpleasant results. He also states, upon oath, that it is perfectly harmless, and that organic or functional heart troubles, consumption, etc., are not contraindications for the administration of the remedies.

In a large number of cases parties who had been afflicted with rheumatism said that since their cure of the liquor habit their rheumatism had entirely disappeared. Mr. Hobbs' interviews did not extend to patients alone, but to members of the press, physicians, ministers and W. C. T. U.'s, all of whom spoke in the highest terms of the cure and its beneficent result. Not a few prominent physicians who were at first not only skeptical in regard to these cures, but opposed them because of their secrecy, having observed closely the results, told Mr. Hobbs that they were now of the opinion that they should be made an exception by medical associations to the code of ethics. After a rigid examination Mr. Hobbs finds that of the thousands cured by the treatment, is no case has a patient ever been temporarily or permanently injured, and Dr. Houston says there never will be.

This is entirely a home enterprise by the best citizens of the city for the purpose of reclaiming the fallen and unfortunate citizens who are victims of the soul destroying appetite for drink. The officers of the company are: J. M. GAMMILL, president. P. L. TERRY, vice president. JAS. O. HOBBS, secretary and general manager. DR. T. FISHERBURN, treasurer. DR. SAM'L G. STAPLES, medical director.

THE TIMES is pleased to publish this extract from Truth, a journal published at Louisville, Ky. Truth takes pleasure in testifying to the efficacy of the Houston Narcotic Cure, an institution established last March. Some time since the proprietors of Truth had occasion to send this institution a friend for treatment for alcoholism. His name is withheld for obvious reasons. This friend, a man of good sense and genteel associations, was afflicted with that dread disease, intemperance, and pronounced by many a lost man—incurable. After a thorough test of the treatment he was completely restored to his normal condition, and is now a living witness of what can be accomplished by the Houston Narcotic Cure.

We also notice that this treatment is endorsed by the W. C. T. U. of America:

ROOMS OF THE W. C. T. U., }

Whereas, Evidence of a character leaving no room for doubt of the efficacy of the Houston system for the cure of liquor, opium and tobacco habits having come to the knowledge of our W. C. T. U., and

Whereas, The lessening of these terrible evils affecting our community is the special object of our organization, therefore be it

Resolved, That to the said system, as a means of accomplishing results so devoutly to be wished, we herewith accord not only our warmest approval and sympathy, but pledge our most hearty and active co-operation and support, and at the same time expressing to the company our thanks for the gratuitous services in instances where the poor victims of appetite were in such pecuniary circumstances as to render them proper subjects for such kindly consideration at their hands.

TREATMENT.
All liquor the patient requires will be furnished free during term of treatment, which consists of three weeks, during which time he must be in attendance at the Institute four times a day for a few minutes. The patients feel better physically from the day they begin treatment. They also cure the Opium or Morphine habit. They absolutely guarantee the foregoing or will refund your money in full. To those not satisfied to pay fee in advance, the company will allow to deposit same in any of the city banks subject to the company's draft when cure is effected.
